MEMORANDUM FOR: Coordinator for Academic Relations, NFAC
FROM: Director of Central Intelligence
SUBJECT: Consultants

1. I certainly enjoyed and benefited from the dinner session last Thursday. Thanks to you and Mal.

2. Shouldn't we consider trying to establish a consultant relationship with the better of the people who come to these dinner meetings, if we don't already have one? It seems to me that we have a chance there to scrutinize their talents. If the subject was worth a dinner meeting, it is probably worth having a consultant on the books for it and setting up a procedure where he would come here at least once every six months just to bat the breeze with our leading analysts in his area.
